

SPEAKER EKERN WAS THWARTED

Attempt To Push His Own Bills Through As He Did Yesterday Was Failure.

PEOPLE TO VOTE ON INCOME TAX

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, Wis., June 26.—Speaker Ekers tried to duplicate his performance of yesterday when he forced through all the insurance legislation recommended by himself and the investigating committee in the face of adverse recommendations of the assembly committee on bonds and insurance. However, Assemblyman Cleary, who again opposed Ekers today, won out on his bill to permit proxy voting in the election of directors. A strenuous debate between Cleary and Ekers was again the feature of this morning's session, and the assembly stood by the assembly committee and Mr. Cleary on this proposition by a vote of 58 to 26. The Cleary bill provides for proxy, mail and personal voting, as against "no proxy" voting in the Ekers bill. The senate passed the bill to levy an income tax in this state. The question now goes to the people, since two legislatures have adopted joint resolutions to the same effect.

YALE-HARVARD BATTLE OF OARS ON THAMES RIVER

Annual Dual Races Will Be Held Tomorrow At New London, Connecticut--One Of Closest Contests Expected.

New London, Ct., June 26.—Once more is the lethargy of this old town aroused in anticipation of the annual battle of oars tomorrow between the crews of Yale and Harvard. Today the advance guard of graduates and undergraduates are discussing the probable winners of the big races. The town is brilliant with flags and bunting of crimson and blue and the place has taken on an air of life and activity customary to the occasion. Every arriving train is bringing its quota of enthusiasts. The influx tomorrow morning is expected to be in excess of anything ever known at a New London regatta, and it is predicted that the largest crowd that ever witnessed a rowing event in America will see the rival crews struggle for honors.
The final practice of the two crews who are to battle for supremacy in the big race took place today and was witnessed by an immense crowd that lined the river banks desirous of forming their final judgment as to the respective merits and condition of the contestants. The tedious work of preparation is now over and until called upon to take to the water tomorrow the eight husky sons of old Eli and the eight broad-shouldered youths from Cambridge will rest and take things easy as the thoughts of impending battle will allow. There promises to be the usual large amount of betting on the result, but it is significant that so far neither the followers of the blue nor the adherents of the crimson are offering any tempting odds. In the minds of close followers of college rowing tomorrow will witness one of the closest and hardest battles between "varsity" eight-oared crews from Harvard and Yale that has ever taken place here. The first race of the day is scheduled to start at 10 o'clock, tomorrow morning. This is the race of the freshmen eights, which will be rowed up stream from the railroad bridge to the navy yard, two miles. Immediately after the university four-oared crews will race two miles up stream from the navy yard to the Harvard crew quarters. The university eights will race down stream over the full course of four miles, starting at 1:30.
History of Yale-Harvard Races.
Yale and Harvard eights have rowed forty years, beginning in 1852 on Lake Winnepesaukee, at two miles. Of the forty races Yale has won twenty-two, while Harvard has eighteen victories to her credit.
In 1855 the course was changed to Springfield and lengthened to three miles. For nine years Lake Quinsigamond was the scene of the contests. In 1869 this course was abandoned, and in the following year the crews met at Lake Saltonstall. After an interval of seven years the crews in 1876-77 returned to Springfield, when the four-mile course was inaugurated. In 1873, however, the event was held on the Thames, and with the exception of three years since that time the event has been an annual fixture and on the Thames course. Yale holds the record for the four-mile course, having covered this distance in 1888 in 20 minutes, 10 seconds.

Cambridge, Mass., June 26.—America's oldest educational institute, Harvard university, today closed its 271st year by graduating a class of 550.

M. ALBERT IS REPUDIATED

WINE-GROWERS DETERMINE TO CONTINUE THE STRUGGLE.
"Apostle," Who Gave Them Clemenceau's Message, Has No Alternative But to Surrender.
Argelliers, France, June 26.—Marcelin Albert, the leader of the wine-growers' movement, appears to have suffered a considerable diminution in influence. His speech Tuesday afternoon before a big meeting of citizens, in which he described his interview with Premier Clemenceau at Paris on Sunday, sounded curiously like a defense. Although he was greeted by cheers from some 3,000 people, he frequently was interrupted.
The "apostle" addressed his followers from the roof of a house. He related in detail the incidents of his trip to Paris and his reception by the premier, who received him as a friend and pressed upon him a hundred francs to pay his passage back.
Albert indignantly denied that he wept in the presence of the premier. M. Clemenceau gave him this message:
"Go back and assemble the federated committees and tell them that I will not disarm until they abandon their illegal attitude."
After reflection, Albert said, he undertook the mission and would now leave it to the delegates of the federated committees to decide what course should be taken. If they were for continuing the movement he would go to Montpellier and surrender.
After a stormy discussion lasting more than two hours, during which Albert was savagely attacked, the delegates decided to continue the struggle with unabated vigor. It was further decided to draw up a statement setting forth the minimum demands.

Albert declared he is in complete accord with the decision of the committee to maintain a civic strike and added that he surrendered because he did not desire to enjoy any longer the immunity granted by Premier Clemenceau's safe conduct. Albert was arrested by ten thousand troops a week ago.

ROOSEVELT WILL HAVE FIRST CALL

IF HE WANTS TO BE PRESIDENT HE CAN.

GOSSIP ON THE TRUST

(Special Correspondence.)
 Washington, D. C., June 26.—It is rather significant that those republican politicians who do not boldly come out in favor of President Roosevelt's renomination almost invariably preface the announcement of their choice by stating that if Mr. Roosevelt were a candidate of course they would be for him but, as he is not, then they are for Fairbanks, Taft, Knox or some other else. This would seem to indicate that Mr. Roosevelt is the first choice of all and the only choice of many. Twelve months' time must elapse before the next convention but the situation today is that several states will enter the field with favorite sons and the contest is an open one. Mr. Roosevelt's silence on the third term question is having a peculiar effect, in that it is at once increasing the crop of possible candidates and lessening the chances of each, especially of the foremost. Those states who have no favorite sons are exhibiting a desire to reserve judgment with a view of swinging into line for Roosevelt if the opportunity presents. Those states with presidential timber of their own naturally prefer to put forward their candidates rather than pledge themselves to others. If the convention were held today candidates would probably be presented as follows: New York, Hughes; Indiana, Fairbanks; Ohio, Taft; Pennsylvania, Knox; Wisconsin, La Follette; Iowa, Cummins, with perhaps a few others as possible. "Dark horses" The first few ballots would be of a complimentary nature, and it would be unsafe to predict the outcome until a test had been made. A candidate from Ohio, Indiana or Illinois would have the logical preference, and Messrs. Taft, Fairbanks and Cannon all have claims worthy of the highest consideration. On the other hand Governor Hughes is rapidly forging to the front in public esteem. Knox is unfortunate in being from a rock-ribbed republican state but he will have a decided advantage over most of the others in one respect, as he is in the hands of men who thoroughly know politics. The administration cannot feel unkindly toward him, while his connections and conservative actions make him strong with those who want a "safe and sane" candidate.

The Taft boom is regarded here as a working. If Mr. Roosevelt should come out strongly for Taft his following would, speedily, increase but whether to a sufficient size to land the prize is doubtful. The prejudice against a president attempting to dictate his successor is likely to prove an offset to the favorable influence he might exert. As the presidential legate Mr. Taft would have the field against him. Conditions in Ohio promise to prevent for some time at least, any successful effort on the part of his friends to capture other delegations. Meanwhile Mr. Roosevelt is playing politics and is getting just what he wants, namely, no pronouncements at all or declarations for favorite sons. With a free field and many candidates he will probably hold the balance of power and can turn the nomination where he pleases. When the convention meets it will be time enough to decide whether he will again be a candidate and it is quite possible that he will make no further public announcement until then unless forced to do so by anxious inquiries. Should convention sentiment demand his renomination he could then accept or by indicating his preference, practically present the nomination to the man of his selection. By keeping silent Mr. Roosevelt maintains things in statu quo; speech would bring a hornets' nest about his ears. The summer will prove an eventful one politically. In the selection of his summer home he will secure the outdoor exercise and the relief in some degree from the cares of state, which will have a beneficial effect upon his nerves and health. During the summer Mr. Roosevelt will do some thinking and when he returns to active participation in affairs the country will get the benefit.

The Amsterdam tobacco market exemplifies the remarkable increase in the consumption of cigars throughout the world, since the American civil war. In 1869 only 352 bales of Sumatra tobacco were sold on the Amsterdam market. Last year Consul Hill reports that the sales of Sumatra amounted to 206,932 bales valued at $19,553,800 while in addition 320,958 bales of Java and 17,062 bales of Borneo tobacco were disposed of, the former valued at $6,231,000, the latter at $1,055,000. Immense quantities of the Sumatra tobacco are purchased in Amsterdam for American factories as it is regarded as the best wrapped tobacco in the world for everything except clear Havana cigars. The leaves are large, fine and silky, and thin. Thus more cigars can be

Rheumatism

ALL BUILDINGS SAVE THE HOUSE WERE BURNED AND SEVEN CALVES KILLED.

ON THE DAVID-MOORE FARM

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Afton, Wis., June 26.—All of the buildings except the large barn, the granary, the milk house, the corn-crib, and the wind-mill—on the David Moore 160-acre farm a mile south of Afton were destroyed by fire this morning, likewise the farm machinery and hay and seven calves. W. J. Clark, the tenant, and a hired man were cultivating corn at some considerable distance southwest of the barn when the flames broke out. Just before the blaze got under way, Mrs. Clark, happening to glance in that direction from the house, saw a tall unkempt appearing individual dash out of the west door from a portion of the structure little frequented, and run westward toward the John Bartel woods. Before her husband and his assistant could reach the scene the flames were beyond control, and nothing could be done to save the doomed buildings. Estimated loss, $2,000, covered by insurance. Stranger Suspected of Theft.
That the fire was of incendiary origin seems beyond question. The same individual whom Mrs. Clark espied running away from the barn, had been sneaking about the premises for several days past. One day last week a pair of valuable ear-rings were stolen from the house and Mr. Clark notified Chief "Schiebel" of the theft while in Beloit yesterday. The mysterious stranger was under suspicion at the time.

Officers Go to the Scene.
Sheriff J. L. Fisher was notified shortly after eleven o'clock this forenoon and accompanied by City Marshal W. H. Appleby, Undersheriff George Appleby, and Deputy Horatio Nelson, departed for the scene at once. The whole neighboring country will be scoured for the "fire-bug."

For Nature Students.

"I have been rather surprised, here in the States, with the general ignorance of what we spelling reformers are trying to do. Our aims are not at all understood. We have no idea of going to such ludicrous extremes as many people think."

"In fact, the average man's idea of reformed spelling is a good deal like the two young ladies' idea of natural history."

"What part of the animal does the chop come from?" said the first young lady. "Is it the leg?"

"Oh, not at all," said the other, laughing. "The leg! How ridiculous! It is, of course, the jaw bone. Have you never heard of animals licking their chops?"

There Are Many of Them.

The Missouri State university has a chair of poultry. It has probably been established for the benefit of people who have given up good jobs thinking they could buy a few dozens of eggs and an incubator and get rich by raising chickens.

FOUR WEDDINGS OCCURRED TODAY

2 PARSONAGE CEREMONIES

Miss Harriet Anderson and John Jarvis United—Nuptials at St. Patrick's Yesterday.

After keeping the date a secret from relatives and friends Miss Harriet Anderson and John Jarvis were quietly married at the Baptist church parsonage at 9:30 o'clock this morning. Rev. R. M. Vaughan performed the ceremony. In the meantime friends learned of the event and before the bridal couple left the scene of their wedding one suit case was stolen. This was later returned with "decorations." The bridal couple boarded the ten-thirty C. M. & St. P. train and before the pursuers reached the depot the bride was hidden in the baggage coach. The groom received the showers of rice and boisterous well-wishes. Mrs. Jarvis is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Anderson of 16 Highland avenue and a popular young lady. Mr. Jarvis is an extra conductor on the St. Paul road and a very worthy young man. The couple will reside at 159 North Jackson street on the return from their honeymoon.

McCarthy-Corbett

A. J. Corbett and Miss Mae McCarthy were wedded at St. Patrick's church at half-past seven o'clock this morning. The Rev. Fr. James McGinnis officiating. The bride was gown in white silk and was attended by her sister, Miss Catherine McCarthy, who wore a costume of figured silk. J. J. Corbett of Libertyville, Ill., a brother of the groom, was best man. Following the ceremony, relatives and intimate friends partook of an elaborate repast served at the home of Mrs. Mary McCarthy, the bride's mother, on Terrace street. The tables were tastefully decorated with carnations and ferns. Mr. and Mrs. Corbett departed amid a shower of rice on the 10:30 train for Chicago and will proceed thence on a month's honeymoon trip to Buffalo, Niagara Falls, and places of interest in Canada. Upon their return they will go to housekeeping in one of the new flats on Pleasant street. The bride was formerly employed at Tort, Bailey & Co.'s store and the groom is a popular conductor on the St. Paul road. Out-of-town guests present at the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. J. Murphy of Ladd, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Leahy, Mr. and Mrs. Turley, and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis of Chicago.

Spencer-Barlass
At five o'clock this afternoon Miss Jessie Spencer and Albert Barlass, the later of Rock Prairie, will be united in marriage at the Methodist Episcopal church parsonage. Rev. J. H. Tippet performing the service. The bride will be attended by Miss Margaret Cullen and the groom by Arthur Chase. On returning from a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Barlass will reside at 217 North Bluff street.

By the celebration of nuptial mass at St. Patrick's church yesterday morning at eight o'clock Miss Nellie H. Heffron of this city and John H. Burns of Beloit were married. Miss Margaret Dolan served the bride as maid and Fred Burns acted as groomsmen. After the ceremony and a wedding breakfast the couple departed on a short wedding trip. On returning they will take up their residence at 1049 Oak street, Beloit. The bride is a well known Janesville young lady and has been a hard worker in St. Patrick's church and its societies. The groom is an employee of the Fairbanks-Morse company.

Married at Rockford
Miss Bertha Cole and Laverne Crawford, both of Evansville, Wis., secured a license to wed from the clerk of Winnebago county, Ill., Monday and were married there.

Keasey-Daggett
Fred S. Daggett, employed as a molder in the Fairbanks-Morse plant at Beloit, and Miss Maggie M. Keasey of the same city were wedded by Judge Stanley D. Tallman shortly after three o'clock this afternoon. Mrs. Martha Daggett and Harry Patten of Beloit were witnesses.

NEW CEMENT MIXER SAVES TIME AND MONEY

William J. Hill, the cement contractor, has recently added to his equipment a cement mixer which represents the latest and best improvement in the art of cement sidewalk laying. The new mixer not only insures uniform high-grade work, but enables the contractor to perform all kinds of cement and concrete work in a fraction of the time consumed by the old hand method. The machine was manufactured by the Knickerbocker Co., of Jackson, Mich., and, while patented, is remarkably simple in operation. It is run by a gasoline engine, and, with a man to shovel in sand or gravel, does all its work automatically. It mixes the cement or concrete 32 times dry and 32 times wet, a total of 64 times, which insures absolute perfect mixing and the work is done quickly and perfectly. Mr. Hill has already completed a large number of contracts for sidewalk laying, etc., with the new mixer, and is in shape to do all kinds of cement and concrete work quickly and well. He guarantees all concrete work to be at least an 8 to 1 cement, and takes pride in actually more than fulfilling his guarantee. Owing to the speed of the new machine, Mr. Hill is enabled to do cement and concrete work of all kinds at lower rates than others, and will gladly submit figures upon any job proposed.

The fact that Mr. Hill was appointed by the city council at its last meeting as official sidewalk builder is conclusive evidence of the quality of his work. If desired, he will lay the finest cement sidewalks, or other similar work, and allow payment to be made in small installments, monthly, or upon any terms which may be desired. He may be seen at any place where the machine is working, or at his residence, No. 3 Riverside street.

It's so easy to make a bluff at perfection; "pretty near" and "good enough" are such easy taskmasters. But that's just where we don't allow ourselves to be fooled. And for a very good reason, too; for we know just as well as you do that you won't allow yourself to be fooled; either.

Now, when we know that Van Camp's Pork and Beans with Tomato Sauce are perfection, we are taking no chances with you. For Van Camp's carry their own convincing argument. They're so perfectly good that you just naturally think of Van Camp's when you think of Pork and Beans.

We want you to order a can of Van Camp's Pork and Beans with Tomato Sauce from your grocer today. We only want you but once to taste their smacking flavor, their full-bodied, nutritious goodness, — You'll never be satisfied with "pretty near" or "good enough" afterwards.

OLD SORES FED AND KEPT OPEN BY IMPURITIES IN THE BLOOD.

An old sore or ulcer is only a symptom, an outlet for the impurities and poisons which are circulating in the blood, and as long as this vital fluid remains in this impure and contaminated state the place will never heal. It may scab over and appear to be getting well, but a fresh outpouring of diseased matter from the blood starts it again, and thus it goes on, sometimes for years, continually growing worse, and slowly sapping away the strength and vitality of the sufferer.

There are many ways by which the blood may become contaminated and poisoned. A long spell of fever, or other sickness, breeds disease germs in the system, the failure of nature's eliminative members to remove the waste and refuse matter of the body, the excessive use of minerals in certain diseases, all infect the blood with morbid matter and germs, which sooner or later manifest their presence by a sore or ulcer which refuses to heal under the ordinary treatment of salves, washes, lotions, powders, etc.

A boil, blister, pimple, burr or even a slight scratch, often develops into a festering or discharging ulcer if the system is run down or the blood depreciated from any cause.

Persons with an inherited blood taint are very apt to be afflicted with sores and ulcers. Being born with an unhealthy blood supply, the different parts of the body are never fully nourished, and when middle life is reached or passed and the vigor and strength of the system begins to weaken and wane, the tissues in some weak point break down, and a chronic sore or ulcer is formed, and kept open by the constant drainage of impure matter from the blood.

How aggravating and stubborn an old sore can be is best known by those who have nursed and treated one for years, applying salves, washes, powders, etc., with no good results. The place remains and continues to grow worse by eating deeper into the surrounding flesh, festering, discharging, sometimes throbbing with pain, and gradually undermining the constitution by its unhealthy action on the system.

It is a great mistake to expect to cure these places with external applications. True, this treatment assists in keeping the parts clean, and are beneficial in this way, but do not reach the real trouble which is in the blood. The practice of cutting out the diseased parts and even scraping the bone beneath, is often resorted to, but these severe measures seldom do any permanent good. The sore may be removed, and for a time heal over, but the same poison that produced it the first time is still in the blood, because The Blood Cannot Be Cut Away, and The Sore Will Return.

The only treatment that can do any real good is a competent blood purifier—one that goes to the very bottom of the trouble and removes the cause, and for this purpose nothing has ever been found to equal S. S. S. It goes down into the circulation, drives out all poison and morbid matter, reduces the inflammation, and by sending pure, rich blood to the diseased parts, instead of feeding them with impurities, allows the sore to heal naturally and permanently. Not only does S. S. S. purify the blood of all poisons and germs, but builds it up from its weakened and impoverished state, making it strong and healthy and able to supply every part of the body with sufficient and proper nourishment to keep it in perfect health. If you have a sore that is slow in healing, do not depend upon external applications alone, nor experiment with unknown medicines, but begin the use of S. S. S., and by removing every vestige of the cause, cure the trouble permanently. *Special book on Sores and Ulcers and any medical advice desired sent free to all who write.

The Harvest Fields of the Northwest

Grow the richest barley crop in the world, and barley, remember, is a substantial food—a standard cereal (like wheat and oats and rye). It is the foundation and back bone of

Gund's Peerless Beer

Pure, natural juices of the barley and hops are combined by the famous "Gund Natural Process" into a fermented-malt beer, whose fine fragrance and rich strengthening food qualities won for it the diploma of highest excellence at Paris, 1900, and for commanding superiority at St. Louis Exposition, 1904.

"Beer is liquid bread." This is an ancient German saying and is true in the most literal sense of "Peerless." Try it and see. It will quench your thirst, give you strength, promote digestion, satisfy your palate and enrich your blood. Sparkling, wholesome, snappy and delicious.

Bottled at brewery only. Sold everywhere. A favorite home beer. Send in a trial order for a case delivered at your door. Telephone, write or call. Ask for it at places of public resort if you want something better than common brews.

BLAST FURNACE MEN TO QUIT.

Plan to Strike July 1 for an Eight Hour Day.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 26.—A strike of the blast furnace men, which it is said, will affect between 10,000 and 15,000 men, will probably be called on Monday, July 1. The difficulty is over an eight-hour day. President McBride, of the national Blast Furnace Workers' association, said Tuesday: "Plans are fully perfected which will result in the workers at every blast furnace in the Mahoning and Shenango valleys quitting work next Monday until the operators comply with their demands. The men who for many years have been working on 12-hour shifts now demand an eight-hour day. They are the only workmen now denied an eight-hour day."

By HAROLD MACGRATE
AUTHOR OF "THE BOY ON THE BOX" "HEARTS AND HANDS" ETC.

"I'll warrant the shoe," said Bauer, "You haven't lost any time," said Max, his regret evident to every one.

The girl smiled approvingly. She loved humor in a man, and this one with the yellow hair and blue eyes seemed to possess a fund of the dry sort. All this was very wrong, she knew, but she wasn't going to be the princess this morning; she was going to cast off the shell of artificiality, of etiquette.

"How much will this shoe cost me?" Max asked.

"Half a crown," said Bauer, with a sly glance at the girl to see how she would accept so exorbitant a sum. The princess frowned. "But some times," added Bauer hurriedly, "I do it for nothing."

"Dauer, your grandfather was a robber," the girl laughed. "Take heed that you do not follow in his footsteps."

"I am a poor man, your—mm—Frau-lein," he stammered.

"Here's a crown," said Max, tossing a coin which was neatly caught by the grimy hand of the smith.

"Are you very rich?" asked the girl curiously.

"Why?" counter-questioned Max.

"Oh, I am curious to know. Bauer will tell it to every one in Barschett that you overpay for things, and from now on you will have to figure living on a basis of crowns."

It is worth any price to hear a pretty woman laugh. What a fine beginning for a day!

"May misfortune be kind enough to bring you this way, again, Herr!" Bauer cried joyfully, not to say ambiguously.

"Listen to that!" laughed the girl, her eyes shining like the water in the sun. "But he means only to thank your generosity. Now,—with a severe frown,—how much do I owe you? Take care; I've only a few pieces of silver in my purse."

"Why, Fraulein, you owe me nothing; I am even in debt to you for this very crown." Which proved that Bauer had had his lesson in courtship.

The assistant, soon brought forth the girl's restive filly. Max sprang to her aid. How light her foot was in his palm! (She could easily have mounted alone, such was her skill; but there's the woman of it.)

"I am going toward the Pass," she said, reading the half-veiled appeal in his blue eyes.

"Which way is that?" he asked, swinging into his own saddle.

"That way," nodding toward the south. "After all, there could be no harm in two or three hours' their paths would separate for ever."

"Why," delightedly, "I am going that way myself."

Old Bauer watched them till they disappeared around a turn in the road. He returned to his forge, shaking his head as if confronted by a problem too abstruse even for his German mind.

"Well, he's an American, so I will not waste any pity on him. The pity is that she must wad old Red-nose."

"It would have been if she had!" So the princess and Prince Charming rode into the country, and they talked about a thousand and one things. Had she ever been to France? Yes. To England? She had received part of her education there. Did she know the Princess Hildergarde? Slightly. What was she like? She was a madcap, irresponsible, but very much abused. Did she know Mr. Warrington, the American consul? She had seen him on his morning rides. Wasn't it a fine world? It was indeed.

Once they stopped at a farm. The girl refused to dismount, bidding Max to go in and ask for a drink of milk. Max obeyed, with alacrity, returning with two foaming goblets of warm milk.

From time to time the princess stifled the "small voice." It was wrong, and yet it wasn't. What worried her was the thought that Betty might take it into her head to follow, and then everything would be spoiled. Every now and then she turned her head and sighed contentedly; the road to rearward was always clear.

"Follow me!" she cried suddenly, even daintily.

A stone wall, three feet high, ran along at their right. The foreground was hard and firm. Pressing the reins on the filly's withers, she made straight for the wall, cleared it, and drew up on the other side. Now, Max hadn't the least idea that the horse under him was a hunter, so I might very well say that he took his life in his hands as he followed her. But Dandy knew his business. He took the wall without effort. A warm glow went over Max when he found that he hadn't broken his neck. Together they galloped down the field and came back for the return jump. This, too, was made easily. Max's admiration knew no bounds. It was a dangerous pastime in more ways than one.

At eight o'clock they turned toward home, talking about another thousand and one things.

"It has been a delightful ride," suggested Max, with an eye to the future.

"I take this road nearly every morning," said she, looking out upon the water, which was ruffling itself and quivering along the sandy shores.

Max said nothing, but he at once made up his mind that he would take the same road, provided he could in any reasonable manner get rid of me.

Compulsory Education in China.

The board of education has under consideration a scheme of compulsory education of children, by which 100 primary schools will be established in each provincial capital, 40 in each prefect, department, and district, and one in each village.

The same board is of opinion that all children reaching a certain age should be forced to enter the schools, otherwise their parents are to be punished. It is also proposed that the provincial director of education shall attend the school once in every two years, and hold an examination—Shanghai Mercury.

Jasper, Ind., June 26.—A severe electric storm passed over this section of the state Tuesday, doing considerable damage. The storm was especially severe in Pike and Orange counties. Lightning struck the home of James Howard near here, and Howard, his wife and six children were rendered unconscious, and two of the children are in a serious condition. Lightning frightened the team of Seth W. Cummings, a farmer of Pike county, causing the horses to run away and Cummings was killed. The storm extended through Perry and Harrison counties and reports of

POSTAL COMPANY IS ASKED TO HEAR MEN

LETTER TO NALLY FROM THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

PEACE MIGHT BE RESULT

Operators Allude to the Late John W. Mackay's Fair Treatment and Think Policy Should Be Continued.

New York, June 26.—The executive committee of the Commercial Telegraphers' union Tuesday addressed a letter to General Manager Nally, of the Postal Telegraph company, suggesting that the grievances of the operators be heard and considered by representatives of the company.

In the letter the committee indicates a preference that the Postal officials receive a representative of the president of the union, but states that if this is not agreeable, employees of the Postal, who are also members of the union's executive board, will be delegates to meet their employers.

Take Nally to Task.

In the communication General Manager Nally is taken to task for statements purporting to have been made by him to the effect that the strike in San Francisco was called in violation of the recent peace agreement between the telegraphers and the company.

"We beg to state the telegraphers made one agreement with the company you represent which covered Chicago. That agreement had been violated in a manner which indicates that the disregard of agreements entered into is on the other side. This statement we are prepared to substantiate by correspondence, printed rules covering Chicago and a fair statement concerning conditions now prevailing there."

Former Petition Ignored.

Continuing the letter says:

"We petitioned your company to be heard on certain grievances, including this breach of contract and the conditions in San Francisco, and our officers went as far as possible to meet you or any responsible representative of the Postal Telegraph company, but were ignored."

"To say the telegraphers are surprised is putting it mildly. We are aware the present company stands as a monument to the late lamented great-hearted John W. Mackay, himself a workman who knew the greatest asset any firm or corporation can possibly have is the hearty cooperation of the employee. He secured for your company this cooperation to the greatest extent ever brought about in this or any country. We believe you will not deny that your company is enjoying from the telegraphers to-day the highest class of work ever given any telegraph company. Your wires are worked to the highest capacity of any company in the history of telegraph."

Wish to State Grievances.

"We now respectfully represent that we can point out numerous grievances to your company which can be adjusted with advantage to both company and employees. To adjust these grievances will cost the Postal company nothing in dollars, because an increase of good feeling between the company and the telegraphers must redound to the advantage of both."

"If you wish to hear our grievances, we shall be glad to meet you or any responsible agent of the company at any time or place convenient to yourself. If you do not wish to meet the president's representative or the board in its entirety, we will delegate employees of the Postal company, members of the board, to meet you. We trust you will do nothing to separate your company from its best asset, the cooperation of the telegraphers, and we hope you will do your part to bring about a renewal of friendly feeling."

"We realize our responsibility as telegraph men to the country, to our employers and to our union, and will go any reasonable distance to adjust our present grievances."

BULLETS FOR A CROWN PRINCE.

George of Servia Fired Upon by Hungarian Customs Officials.

Berlin, June 26.—The Tageblatt's Belgrade correspondent telegraphs that Crown Prince, George of Servia narrowly escaped death while rowing alone on the river. He having approached the Hungarian shore, the customs officials commanded him to stop and permit them to examine his boat. This the prince refused to do and started for the Serbian shore, which he reached safely amidst a shower of bullets from the officials.

Train Derailed, One Woman Hurt.

North Platte, Neb., June 26.—The westbound Los Angeles limited express on the Union Pacific was wrecked at the west end of the Platte river bridge near here at nine o'clock Tuesday night. Practically the whole train was derailed, two sleepers being turned completely over. No one was killed and only one passenger, a Los Angeles woman, name unknown, was injured.

Vancouver, June 26.—The tug Constance, carrying Captain Neilson and crew of six men, all of New Westminster, has been lost with all on board at Rivers inlet, 300 miles up the coast.

ALL SPOKE THEIR MINDS.

Ears of the Late Ebenezer Must Have Tinged.

"Ebenezer Squeer wa'n't much," said Aunt Abigail. "If the Lord wanted him He's welcome, as far as I'm concerned. If He was callin' men accordin' to merit, Ebenezer would be wakin' a long time after some of the rest of us was taken. The Lord moves in mysterious ways and just why He wanted Ebenezer Squeer is one of 'em. But He's got him, whether He wanted him or not, and the association might as well pass resolutions of regret if it will make the burden any lighter for the widow."

The text of 'em was the hardest work we had to do. I drafted 'em first, but when the association got through amendin' 'em, the original copy had to be rowrote. I began it, 'Whereas, our late lamented brother, Ebenezer Squeer, has been called to realms of everlasting bliss, etc. Melva Driggs moved to strike out the word 'lamented'; and that was struck out as a concession to the minority. Then Zerophy Wilkins moved to strike out all after 'called.' She said the statement about 'realms of everlasting bliss,' was purely guesswork, with the chances agin' it's bel'n' so. She moved to substitute, 'from fields of labor' for 'realms of everlasting bliss,' makin' it read, 'Whereas, our late brother, Ebenezer Squeer, has been called from fields of labor,' Melvina Driggs wanted to know if Zerophy ever saw any field where Ebenezer Squeer had labored. She said such a resolution was a deliberate slur on every workin' person within the range of her voice, which is considerable when she is het up. She moved to strike out everything after 'called,' makin' it read, 'Whereas, the late Ebenezer Squeer has been called,' and as nobody could find anything to complain of in that sentiment, we let it stand at that."

I'm free to confess, when we got 'em finally adopted, there wasn't much meat in 'em. I took a copy of 'em and they read:

"Whereas, the late Ebenezer Squeer has been called, and—Whereas, our beloved sister, Sophy Squeer, is left to mourn, and—Whereas the Woman's Charitable association realized that afflictions are only blessing in disguise, now, therefore—Be it resolved, that this association extends its regret and sympathy to Sister Sophy Squeer, an honored, beloved and respected member of this association, and that an engrossed copy of these resolutions be sent to Sister Squeer."—Success Magazine.

Fire Test for Rugs.

The dusky rug salesman took a red-hot coal from the grate, and holding it tight in the tongs, touched it to the splendid Persian rug.

"Oh!" gasped the visitor, as the costly rug sizzled and gave off a little smoke and an odor of burning.

But the salesman smiled. He threw the coal back into the grate. He pointed to the charred spot, as big as a half dollar, on the rug's cream-colored ground.

"Regard, madam," he said.

And with his hand he brushed the brown entirely away. In a moment nothing of it was left. The rug came forth from its fiery ordeal the same as before, only, in that one spot, the fabric was perhaps an eighth of an inch thinner.

"A Persian rug that will not come unharmed from the fire test," said the salesman, "is not, madam, worth your attention."

Costly Seats in Parliament.

The 1,273 candidates who sought political honors at the last general election, according to London Answers, paid $5,800,000 for the privilege. They polled between them 5,645,104 votes, so that each vote cost one dollar.

The dearest seat in the house of commons was that won by J. H. Bethell, who sits for the Romford division of Essex. He paid $19,200 for the honor, but as he polled 21,534 votes, the cost of each was below the average.

The cheapest seat in the house for which the owner had to fight was that held by John J. Mooney, the member for Newry, who paid $600 for the 892 votes he obtained. His opponent's 736 votes cost him $1,860.

Kelr Hardie's and Will Thorne's expenses amounted to $1,860 and $3,940 respectively. Mr. Balfour's unsuccessful contest at Manchester cost him nearly $5,000.

Malapropos.

"I understand that the Rev. Mr. Goodings is considered to have very little tact."

"He hasn't any. Once he lost a call to a large church in Philadelphia. He was invited over there to preach, and roared out his text twice in a loud voice: 'Awake, thou that sleepest.'"

Not Such a Fool After All.

A theological student supposed to be deficient in judgment was asked by a professor in the course of a class examination:

"Pray, Mr. E., how would you discover a fool?"

"By the questions he would ask," was the rather stunning reply.

Slightly Sardonious.

"How did that university you founded turn out?"

"It is doing great work," answered Mr. Dustin Stax. "It is devoting special attention toward economic studies in the hope of finding a way to prevent all the wealth and power from drifting into the hands of grasping persons like myself."

ELIZABETH LOVING TELLS A SAD STORY

SWEARS SHE WAS DRUGGED AND ATTACKED BY ESTES.

CONFESSED TO FATHER

Jury Hears the Tale That, It Is Alleged, Drove the Parent to Kill Young Man.

Houston, Va., June 26.—Between stifling sobs, Miss Elizabeth Loving, who has occupied the center of the stage in the trial of her father, Judge William G. Loving, for the murder of Theodore Estes, told on the witness stand here Tuesday her story of her alleged ruin by the young man whom her parent shot down.

It was the same story she said she told to her father on the morning of the tragedy, and which resulted in his hunting down and slaying the man whom she charged with perpetrating the deed. Estes, she said, had given her a drink of whisky from a flask he had in his pocket while they were out buggy riding on the afternoon prior to the killing. After taking the drink she declared that she immediately began to feel dizzy and her head "spinned around" as if she had been given some powerful drug. In this condition, and despite her protests, she declared, her escort drove her over an unfrequented road and attacked her. She declared she recalled nothing more until she regained her senses while in bed late that night at the home of County Clerk E. L. Kidd, where she had been visiting Miss Kidd.

Told Her Father the Story.

She testified that on the following morning, when her father asked her for the cause of her being brought to the home of Mr. Kidd unconscious and drugged, she related to him on bended knees the same statement she made in court. It was this recital, declared the defense, which so affected the mind of Judge Loving that it impelled him to commit a crime which, according to his statement, could have been prevented by no power "except God Almighty."

Whether the story told by the 19-year-old girl can be torn to pieces and disproved by the prosecution remains to be seen. They claim that it can be shown that the outrage laid at the door of the man whose lips are sealed forever was impossible. The rebuttal evidence by the prosecution will probably be the most important, though not the most sensational feature of the case. A legal battle on the point of admissibility of evidence will be waged, as the defense has already announced that its case is nearing an end.

Thinks Loving Was Insane.

Dr. William Tunstall, of Lovingstone, who saw Judge Loving before and after the killing, testified that he thought Loving committed the crime while insane. He based his theory practically on the fact that Loving failed to speak to him in passing before the killing and afterward; that Loving's head "hung low and he was pale," and also on his personal knowledge of Loving, who, he said, went on frequent debauches, ending in delirium tremens.

Dr. H. B. Melvin of Halifax testified that he had passed upon the mental condition of many people and that continued drink brought on excitement which often ended in insanity.

Der dachshund was an obedient dog, but ven you call him to come quick he is always long. He can't help ut—he was born dot way. Above all, der dachshund ves der only member ut der dog's family whose breath comes in long bants. All der rest comes in short bants. Hurrah for der dachshund!"

They Moved Down to Boston.

Mrs. H. G. Wells and other grown-ups have had their merry gibes at Boston, but here is a little miss whose unconscious irony puts their best efforts to shame. "Why," asked Dorothy the other night on going to bed; "why can't we see fairies?" "Because they do not live in the fields and woods here any more," replied her nurse. "Where are they, then—in heaven?" "Perhaps so." "Oh, I know," said Dorothy after a moment of silent thought. "The angels got tired of their old mansions in the sky, so they let the fairies have them and moved to Boston."—Judge.

Hard Slam at Novels.

It is the somewhat acrid contention of a contemporary reader, says Harper's Weekly, that the very best way to choose novels is not to choose any at all; and the second best way is never to read novels of living authors.

CHAOS IN A FERRY HOUSE.

Young Man Got Even with Crowd Which Pushed Him Aside.

A big crowd was waiting in the St. George ferry house, Staten Island, for the New York boat, all more or less bored and listless, when a young man came in and wandered idly about the room, says the New York Press. He finally stopped in front of a penny-in-the-slot phonograph machine and dropped in a coin. A lively tune immediately started up. The crowd woke up and several loafers collected in front of the machine in order to enjoy the strains more thoroughly. More of the bored ones joined the collection till, to the surprise of the young man, he was elbowed out of the way and stood on the outside. He stared at the crowd in some resentment. Then a thought seemed to strike him. He fished up a bunch of change from his pockets and walking around the room, calmly proceeded to start every machine in the place going, including two banjo-picking machines. The bedlam that ensued was indescribable. With a grin of triumph the youth left the scene of his villainy and went outside to light a cigarette. He had his revenge.

RELIC OF OLD ROMAN DAYS.

New York.—There has recently been added to the Naples Museum a splendid collection of objects of antiquity dug up from the ruins of Pompeii. The one here produced is an excellent example. Archaeology has been able to piece together an almost entire picture of the uses of these beautifully designed urns. In Roman times wine was always mixed with water.

The host would ask his friends how they would like to have it. Some preferred to have their wine cooled, and snow or snow water was put into the wine. Here is where we have the advantage over a Roman in our modern refrigerating methods, which enable us to have ice at all seasons without regard to the product of the winter. But a custom among the Romans, which nowadays seems strange to us, was the admixture of hot water with the wine.

Special vessels were adopted for heating or keeping the water hot, and they were very often of very beautiful and elaborate design. There are many and very ingenious varieties of these urns, each one possessing a space for the hot water, a tube or other receptacle for hot coals, and a tap. Besides their chief use of heating water for mixing with wine they could be used also for cooking ovens. Great numbers have been dug up in Pompeii and Herculaneum, where in the days of their prime they must have formed beautiful table ornaments. It is not probable that the artistic impulse will lead to the reproduction of these beautiful ancient models.
